NEW BOOKS

AFRICA: Selected Documents on Constitutive, Conflict and Security, Humanitarian, and Judicial Issues (call No: 05AF002)

Jeremy I. Levitt, editor

At a time when the international community is focusing on the difficult problems of conflict and development in the nations of the African continent, this volume presents an important collection of current and essential documents. This comprehensive volume provides a ready reference to often hard-to-find documents and statutes for scholars, researchers, and policy makers working on issues involving the people and nations of Africa.

“Professor Jeremy I. Levitt has done a compilation of normative instruments pertinent to Africa that is impressive in its scope and depth and that correlates remarkably to his own experiences in the world of scholarship and practical experiences in a variety of contexts. I have often argued that normative developments in Africa that have recently culminated in the New Partnership for African Development (NEPAD), the Kampala movement toward a Conference on Security, Stability, Development and Cooperation in Africa (CSSDCA), and the African Union (AU) should be viewed as sign posts in an evolutionary process that is symptomatic of progress, albeit slow and qualitatively mixed. Professor Levitt has charted out the path of this evolutionary progress in this comprehensive document. I commend Professor Levitt for this fine collection, which will significantly facilitate the work of scholars, educators, students, policy-makers, practitioners, investors, inter-Government and non-Governmental organizations, in short all those concerned with the formidable challenges facing the African Continent.”

Francis M. Deng

“Africa’s contribution to international law is not sufficiently recognized. This book provides a wealth of information in a systematic way. It is a collection that addresses Africa’s engagement with complex issues that have challenged its quest for sovereignty, peace, security and protection of human rights. I applaud Dr. Levitt for this valuable research tool. It should be required reading for all scholars of Africa.”

HUMAN RIGHTS IN AFRICA: Enhancing Human Rights Through the African Regional Human Rights System (call No 04RC002)

George William Mugwanya

The author argues that although the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and the role the United Nations plays in promoting global awareness of human rights has had a positive influence in Africa, their institutional, financial and political impediments undercut the ability of a global system to address adequately the crisis in human rights violations occurring in Africa today.

To respond effectively to human rights abuses in Africa, more reliance should be placed on regional African institutions such as the African Commission on Human and Peoples’ Rights so that a regional human rights system, working in concert with the United Nations global system, can bring more positive results. Using case studies from South Africa and Uganda, past difficulties in addressing human rights problems are analyzed and recommendations made for future methodologies including the creation of an African Court of Human and Peoples’ Rights.

George William Mugwanya is a lawyer working with the Prosecutor’s office at the International Tribunal for Rwanda.

GUIDE TO INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS PRACTICE, 4th ed. (call No05RA002)

Hurst Hannum

The standard work in its field, this updated and expanded edition presents an eminently practical “nuts-and-bolts” guide to international human rights law and practice. The contributors, all specialists in their areas of expertise, offer a panoramic yet meticulously detailed survey of the many techniques now available to protect human rights at global, regional, and national levels. Appendices include a bibliographic essay that serves as a mini-guide to contemporary human rights literature, in both print and on-line sources.

Published under the auspices of the Procedural Aspects of International Law Institute (PAIL).

Hurst Hannum is Professor of International Law at The Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy. He has served as counsel in cases before the European and Inter-American Commissions on Human Rights and the United Nations.

UNIVERSAL JURISDICTION : INTERNATIONAL AND MUNICIPAL LEGAL PERSPECTIVE (call No 04CA003)

Luc Reydam

Description

- The first comprehensive and comparative analysis of universal jurisdiction
- A broad international legal framework with detailed accounts of universal jurisdiction in 14 countries
- Provides unique English language access to literature and law reports in French, Dutch and German
- A useful companion volume to The Law of State Immunity by Hazel Fox, QC

After centuries of near dormancy, the concept of ‘universal jurisdiction’ has suddenly become an important legal tool in the international campaign against impunity. Among the legal questions raised by the exercise of universal jurisdiction, this book considers two: Under what conditions is a country investigating or prosecuting a foreigner for an extraterritorial offence internationally competent? What is the basis in municipal law for the exercise of universal jurisdiction? Reydam first identifies the international legal issues that arise when a State exercises extraterritorial jurisdiction generally, discerns the different doctrinal concepts of universal jurisdiction, and traces universal jurisdiction in current international texts such as multilateral conventions, resolutions of intergovernmental bodies, and official drafts and studies. He then brings together, and makes accessible in English, detailed accounts of universal jurisdiction in fourteen countries: Australia, Austria, Belgium, Canada, Denmark, France, Germany, Israel, the Netherlands, Senegal, Spain, Switzerland, the United Kingdom, and the United States.

Readership: Academics, students and practitioners in the field of criminal law, international law, comparative law, human rights law, and international relations

Luc Reydam, Adjunct Assistant Professor, University of Notre Dame, Department of Political Science

CONFERENCE ALERTS

PRAGUE, 25-30 September 2005 Conference of the International Bar Association

In its role as a dual membership organisation, comprising 16,000 individual lawyers and over 190 Bar Associations and Law Societies, the International Bar Association (IBA) influences the development of international law reform and shapes the future of the legal profession. Its Member Organisations cover all continents and include the American Bar Association, the German Federal Bar, the Japan Federation of Bar Associations, the Law Society of Zimbabwe and the Mexican Bar Association.

Grouped into two Divisions – the Legal Practice Division and the Public and Professional Interest Division – the Association covers all practice areas and professional interests. It provides members with access to leading experts and up-to-date information as well as top-level professional development and network-building opportunities through high quality publications and world-class Conferences. The IBA's Human Rights Institute works across the Association, helping to promote, protect and enforce human rights under a just rule of law, and to preserve the independence of the judiciary and the legal profession worldwide.

The Conference is a five-day event running from Sunday 25 to Friday 30 September, with working sessions commencing on Monday 26 September.

The programme comprises over 100 working sessions as well as several showcase sessions, combining practice-specific with the wider issues affecting the profession, ensuring there is something for every practitioner with clients who trade across borders.

The registration fee entitles you to attend as many sessions throughout the week as you wish. In addition there is a varied social programme, providing plenty of opportunity to network with fellow delegates in an information setting. An excursion programme allows delegates and their guests to explore the many attractions of Prague.

The full Preliminary Programme of the Conference is available here.

New Journal subscribed for the Library

Psychology, Crime & Law, Volume 11, 2005, Quarterly; ISSN Print 1068-316X

This journal promotes the study and application of psychological approaches to crime, criminal and civil law, and the influence of law on behavior. The content will include the aetiology of criminal behavior and studies of different offender groups; crime detection, for example, interrogation and witness testimony; courtroom studies in areas such as jury behavior, decision making, divorce and custody, and expert testimony; behavior of litigants, lawyers, judges, and court officers, both in and outside the courtroom; issues of offender management including prisons, probation, and rehabilitation initiatives; and studies of public, including victim, reactions to crime and the legal process. It will publish reviews and brief reports which make a significant contribution to the psychology of law, crime and legal behavior.
