NEW BOOKS

Prosecuting International Crimes

Selectivity and the International Criminal Law Regime

Call No 05EA003

Series: Cambridge Studies in International and Comparative Law (No. 41)

Robert Cryer

University of Nottingham

This book discusses the legitimacy of the international criminal law regime. It explains the development of the system of international criminal law enforcement in historical context, from antiquity through the Nuremberg and Tokyo Trials, to today's prosecutions of atrocities in the former Yugoslavia, Rwanda and Sierra Leone.

The modern regime of prosecution of international crimes is evaluated with regard to international relations theory. The book then subjects that regime to critique on the basis of legitimacy and the rule of law, in particular selective enforcement, not only in relation to who is prosecuted, but also the definitions of crimes and principles of liability used when people are prosecuted. It concludes that although selective enforcement is not as powerful as a critique of international criminal law as it was previously, the creation of the International Criminal Court may also have narrowed the substantive rules of international criminal law.

- A theoretical and interdisciplinary approach to international criminal law
- Investigates the interplay between procedural and substantive international criminal law
- Evaluates the international criminal law regime from the point of view of legitimacy and the rule of law

Exilés, réfugiés, déplacés en Afrique centrale et orientale André Guichaoua (sous direction). Call No 05UB011

Cet ouvrage analyse les migrations sous contrainte dans l'ensemble du bassin du Congo et de l'Afrique des Grands Lacs. Dans certains pays, tel l'Angola, le Rwanda et le Congo-Zaïre, des centaines de milliers d'individus ont connu l'exil depuis le début des années 1960. Au cours des années 1990, la juxtaposition de conflits nationaux, puis le déclenchement d'une vaste guerre régionale sur le territoire congolais, ont mis cette partie de l'Afrique au centre de l'agenda humanitaire international avec ses millions de victimes, de réfugiés, déplacés et "affectés".

Les différentes contributions rassemblées insistent sur les dimensions sociales et politiques de ces drames humains.

CONFERENCE ALERTS

2005 International Law Weekend

October 20, 2005 - October 22, 2005

New York, NY, USA

International Norms in the 21st Century: Development and Compliance Revisited Sponsored by the American Branch of the International Law Association.

In 2005, International Law Weekend returns to the twin topics of development and compliance across a wide spectrum of modern-day international legal regimes and issues; for example, the extent of treaty compliance in the world trade regime (brinkmanship v. compromise), compared to compliance with customary norms in public and private international law. We will explore why some of the most vexing compliance questions now pertain to the very institutions responsible for making and implementing international law: UN peacekeepers, the EU commission, the UN Secretariat itself.
