CONFERENCE ALERTS

Course on Challenges to International Humanitarian Law

November 12-16, 2007
Turku/Åbo, Finland

Sponsored by the Institute for Human Rights. Challenges to International Humanitarian Law is an intensive course organized by the Institute for Human Rights at Åbo Akademi University, in co-operation with the Finnish Red Cross. The course is intended to provide insights into new developments of, and challenges to international humanitarian law. International experts will, inter alia, deal with the interaction between human rights law, humanitarian law and international criminal law.

Issues such as child soldiers and genocide will also be covered in the substance of the course. The course is composed of lectures, group case studies, a panel discussion, and an optional written examination. It is intended for students, researchers, practitioners, IO/NGO personnel, and others interested in broadening their knowledge of international humanitarian law.

Good Governance and Non-State Actors in International Law: An African Perspective August 27-29, 2007 Pretoria, South Africa

The International Law Association's 2007 Regional Conference, sponsored by the South African Branch of the International Law Association (SABILA) in conjunction with the VerLoren van Themaat Centre for Public Law Studies of the University of South Africa. The conference aims to bring together international lawyers from Africa and the rest of the world to discuss good governance as a developing phenomenon in international law with particular reference to the changing role of non-state actors in the international arena. Human rights, corporate governance, environmental law and sustainable development issues will be addressed through academic papers and panel discussions.

The UN and Regional Organizations: Partners for Peace and Security July 24-August 4, 2007 Ghent, Belgium

The Academic Council on the United Nations System (ACUNS) and the American Society of International Law (ASIL), in cooperation with Ghent University and the Royal Institute for International Relations (IRRI-KIIB), are pleased to support the seventeenth ACUNS-ASIL Summer Workshop on International Organization Studies. The purposes of the workshop are, first, to encourage new directions and new ideas in the analysis of international organization(s) and related legal studies; second, to establish and strengthen contacts between international relations and legal scholars and the United Nations practitioners; and third, to stimulate advanced research and teaching in the specific workshop subject matter.

The workshop is intended to foster excellence in emerging scholars and practitioners who are at a relatively early stage in their careers. Therefore it is designed specifically for junior professors in international relations and international law faculties, post-doctoral and advanced doctoral level students, young lawyers and practitioners from civil society groups, policy staff from international organizations, human rights and development advocates, and others at similar early stages of their professional careers.
